

COVID-19 Response Assessment

UNDERSTANDING YOUR CHALLENGES

The COVID-19 pandemic presented never-before-seen challenges that put organizations' resiliency to the test. With examiners looking for a clear view of your organization's response, it can feel overwhelming trying to measure and assess where you stand, and how prepared you are for the future. Wolf & Company's COVID-19 Response Assessment provides a holistic visual representation of your response, and gives examiners confidence that the organization's response supported the financial needs of its customers and the community.

SOLUTIONS

- ✔ Wolf's industry experts cover multiple disciplines—including operations, technology, security, compliance, financial, credit, market, reputation, and personnel—to provide an enterprise-wide look at how you are measuring and rating your responses.
- ✔ We'll work directly with you to identify, document, and gauge your organization's response against leading industry standards. Our team will also provide insight into your organization's current standing, and will work with you to identify necessary operational adjustments to incorporate into plans for the future.

THE SERVICE STRATEGY

By partnering closely with your team, Wolf's experts will:

- ✔ Determine how well your organization was positioned to respond to the pandemic
- ✔ Identify both internal and external gaps in your preparedness, document how you addressed them, and determine how to manage gaps in your new operating culture
- ✔ Assess risks and the impact to your control environment, as well as your operational capabilities, policies, and procedures
- ✔ Monitor and track your ongoing response to remain compliant with government and regulatory mandates
- ✔ Prepare a visual representation of your full response for examiners

The assessment process can feel overwhelming—but with Wolf, you'll get the expertise you need to guide you through this effort for today and beyond.

Learn more about

COVID-19 Response Assessment
from Wolf & Company, P.C.

TRACY L. HALL, MBCP

IT Assurance Senior Manager
thall@wolfandco.com
(413) 726-6884